Mr. Henry Toenjes, previously an instructor at St. Robert School in Flushing, Mich., comments, "I really like it here. It reminds me of my own school in Flint." Mr. Toenjes teaches Latin II and IV, and English I.
Besides the new faces, other revisions have been made.

Mr. Timothy Donohue and Mr Lawrence Poissant, formerly junior homeroom teachers, are now managing sophomore and freshman rooms. "I like it fine!" says Mr Poissant.

A change of pace was scheduled for Sister M. Remigia who now teaches in 214. Sister was stationed in the office last year.

Sister Mary Carl, a frosh homeroom teacher of past years, now instructs the juniors of 219 .

The seniors will tour the new Enrico Atomic Power Plant near Monroe, Michigan Thursday, October 15.

On their annual one-day educational venture, the seniors will visit the plant's Information Center to learn how atomic-electric power will be produced in the future. This Detroit Edison plant is the largest of its kind in the world. The class of ' 60 will see exhibits on nuclear energy and progressive movies on the importance of the peacetime use of the atom.

"We got many ideas from our Ann Arbor trip," mentioned the officers, who attended a student government workshop open to Michigan parochial and public schools during the summer. "The workshop included buzz sessions, problem clinics, and round-table discussions with lectures by U of M professors," commented Bernie Bak 217, president.

Memory Book Permanent

"The senior memory book is permanently replacing the year book in both parochial and public high schools, due to a change in educational trend. The yearbook will be found in the future only in the college," explains Sister M. Gilbertine, principal.
Twenty '60 grads compose the memory book staff. In addition, coworkers assist in typing and form a business staff. "An editor will be chosen later," stated Sister M. Bettina, moderator.
Layout editors include Flo Cosgrove 218 and Lillian Shynkar 216. Linda Lennert 215, Judy Pesto 215, and Donna Fodell 215 are coworkers on copy. Photography heads are Judy Jagacki 217 and Donna Puwal 215.

Library Moved
To leave room for an extra homeroom on the third floor, Room 312 was converted into the library. It has more wall space than was available in Room 316.
In the basement, the new attraction is the arts and crafts room which occupies space left unused since the boys' locker room was moved to the new gym. The drafting room was enlarged and the basement corridor re-routed in the process.
Parish Funds Used
"These renovations used the parish's reserve finances. We're now operating on the weekly collections," observed the Rev. Norbert Sulkowski, C.PP.S., pastor In the future he also hopes to install fluorescent lighting, paint the basement, put a filter in the gym, repair the gym floor, and make additions to the washrooms.

Guidance Program

Offered Upperclassmen
Upperclassmen are now included in the guidance program which will occupy the Friday activity period for the remainder of the year. In previous years the freshmen were introduced to this course to acquaint them with high school methods and to enable them to develop a wellrounded personal life.
The extended program for the higher divisions offers vocational and educational planning. Other topics are social and family life, focusing on Christian principles.
"The course will give the students an opportunity to seek the aid of an instructor in any problem, if they so wish," says Sister M. Cordula, who outlined the program for the school. Books and pamphlets will be distributed on each phase of the counseling.

Typewriters Modern
Future secretaries can practice on a new consignment of imported typewriters. Eight new additions arrived recently from Wilhelmshauer in Western Germany.

scheduled courses at St. Anthony since 1953.
Eighty two students of sophomore, junior, and senior divisions attend the classes.

The course will teach painting in all its medias so that the students can become familiar with all phases of art. "Crafts, such as ceramics, stuffed-animal making, and woodwork will also be taught," explains Sister Anaclete.
"Three rooms have been devoted to the new department. All work will be on display," she adds.

The arts class will have its own library where students can browse, view paintings of both old and new masters, and glean new ideas.

Planned for the year's agenda are trips to both Cranbrook and the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The Archdiocese of Detroit and the public school system prescribe that such a course be adopted in every high school. "The experience gained can be utilized for more productive leisure time and for enriching their lives, both during their high school years and afterward," says Dr. Kent Leach of the University of Michigan.

Sodality Observes Rosary Month

The month of October was begun with the Living Rosary held in the gym Oct. 1 .

Junior and senior girls in blue capes formed the beads, and boys formed the cross. At the saying of each "Hail Mary" a rose was placed at the feet of the Blessed Mother.
The event was sponsored by the Sodality.

Prosperity without War

ANSWERS to the economic crises of the second and fourth decades of the twentieth century are written in blood and terror on history's pages. Americans were able to change bread lines for grocery stores; they cashed employment checks instead of government dole. Our heads were above water at the high price of war and hunger overseas.

In the late 1950's a recession ushered in an alarming drop in employment and an inflationary rise. From across the seas and south of our borders, news of Communistic aggression and uprisings filled daily newspapers. Every element in the situation pointed to a peace-time threat.

Recovery has been painfully slow, and thousands are still drawing unemployment benefits. But the slump is over, Wall Street is back on its feet, and without converting the Continent's cold war into a searing world conflict.

An old situation, but new history is covering the story in printer's ink instead of blood!

Watt's World  By RON WATT

These are trying times, full of distrust and greed. Ever since the last war the war that was supposed to end all wars, a new menace to world peace has thrown a dark shadow on all free people.
Communism, in the form which is advocated by the U.S.S.R., has advanced tremendously during this period. Nations have seen it grow and become ambitious. They have fought its evil and are becoming fired of retreating from it. The time has come for free people to exert themselves.
We have been too apathetic in our approach to this situation. A start has to be made someplace in obtaining world peace. Nations today want peace but they want it on their own terms. Therefore, arriving at a conclusion to the satisfaction of everybody is going o be a momentous task
However, there has to be a breakthrough somewhere. That is why the exchange visits of the two most powerful nations overshadow all other events in the world today. We can only hope that these exchange visits are successful. It would be impossible during one brief stay to change a country's attitude, but far better understanding can occur. It is certain that we cannot begin our quest for peace at an earlier date

Her Promise World Peace

WE are children of a troubled world living in a nation protected internationally by a somewhat ineffective world court, the United Nations Assembly, by compromise and promises. Not too satisfying, really.

As children of Mary, we can have all the reassurance possible in this world from an-other. Now, in October, the month of the Holy Rosary, the opportunity to arm this country with the best possible defense has presented itself. Our Lady has sanctioned this prayer at Lourdes and at Fatima. It is the promise she made through the Rosary on which we depend.

For world peace, for the conversion of Russia and in the month of Mary, show yourself her child. Pray the Rosary.

'Song Pepless, Weak at Rally'

Dear Editor:

My gripe is not a matter of worldshaking importance, but it has never failed to irk me.
The treatment given the school song at the first pep rally was definitely shameful. You will find pop songs sung with more warmth and feeling - and more correctly. It is true the song is old, but must the notes be flat, nasal, and concluded with that dreadful whine?
I also noticed that a great many underclassmen were unsure of the lyrics. Is there a way this could be remedied?

Dear Critic:
Not to sound sentimental, I do agree with you in both respects. The education of the underclassmen belongs to the cheerleaders, but feeling or spirit is in the hands of the students themselves.
The school song could be a strong and proud victory song!

Dear Mr. Editor,

Every now and then someone will ask me the question, "How does our school song go?" The only eason I know is because I also was curious and asked upperclassmen. I think it is a downright shame that nobody is making an effort to teach it to us.

Why couldn't the Student Council distribute copies of the song to the freshmen and even the sophomores? I think only one third of the freshmen and sophomores put together know it. At the first pep rally it sounded like no one was sure of himself, including the junior cheerleaders.

Here it is: SCHOOL SONG Come on and cheer for St. Anthony,

Students Express Varied Artistic Talent

"Creativeness is the watchword in the arts and crafts room," reports instructor S. M. Anaclete.
The class, which is composed mostly of boys, is presently learning to make original designs from numbers, leaves, leters, and lines. "Here, nothing can be copied," Sister explains. "In creating a design, the inspiration must come from within the student."
In arts, Sister is concentrating on teaching arrangement and composition
"Thus far, my pupils have been bragging that they know how to draw trees and distinguish between their leaves," she says.
In the line of crafts, flowermaking, doll-dressing, and claysculpturing are projects planned for later in the year.
"I intend to learn a lot about art," Don Koschmeder 217 claims. "It has been a lot of fun drawing and modeling clay."
Paula Notarangelo 219 and Richard Olcese 314 find the class "fun and interesting."
"The arts and crafts class eases the tension of the day," comments Tony Paolucci 218.

Class Execs Take Office

Now that ballots have been tabulated, the executive officers of each upper division are ready to take their positions on their respective councils.
Leading the senior class are President Linda Lennert, VicePresident Dennis Anderson, Secretary Rose Sciarrotta, and Treasurer Tony Nader. Juniors chose Ralph Olechowski, Judy Stocker, Carol Mobley, and Tom Hill as their class leaders. Arnold Stefani, Mary Giasson, Beverly Konert, and Dennis Hynous copped offices in the sophomore division
Freshmen will not vote until later in the year when they have become better acquainted with their fellow students.

Geometry, Slide Rule Challenge Kathy, Fred

Kathy Lauer 316 and Fred Ream 118 are two people who are not easily floored by a difficult situation. They both relish a good challenge.

As an example, Fred recently came across his dad's old slide rule, and, baffled by its workings, proceeded to teach himself the use of the instrument. As a result, the sophomore can now multiply and divide with it long before many other students realize the instrument exists.

Kathy met the same type of challenge in the classroom. Beginning her sophomore year with a strong dislike for geometry, she, with a little application, finally developed a sincere interest in the subject and found it to be a joy to tear apart a problem step by step.

Though their future ambitions differ greatly in substance, the soph and the junior hold to the same principles in the pursuit of their goals - both believe in hard work.

Kathy, who hopes to be an organist and piano teacher some day, foresees the competition she will find in her field. But she is determined to tackle the continuous practice that the profession entails.

The fields of aeronautics and automotive engineering are the bright stars in Fred's future. He intends to lay a firm foundation in high school by taking all the math and science courses offered.
Using the Future Teachers Club as an insight to what the handling of pupils involves, Kathy hopes to gain experience that will be practical to her when she is a piano teacher.
Last year, Fred had the distinction of being the only freshman to cop 60 honor points - an all-A report card. When it was suggested that he must spend a good deal of time studying, Fred replied, "I study until I know the subject matter, whether it takes ten minutes or two hours."
Advanced algebra and chemistry are Kathy's favorite subjects because they make her think. "I can't wait to get into the chem lab because chemicals fascinate me," she exclaims.

Extra-curricular activities also find a place in these two busy schedules. Fred is 115 's Student Council representative
Though his experience in SC is slight, he is of the opinion that student interest in the council is lagging. 'They see their part in it as a joke, and are not serious enough in their suggestions," he reports.

Club Plans Shape Up

With the beginning of the school year the wheels of activity are turning again. New officers have taken over as school clubs reassemble.
The Library Aides are planning for more thorough service. In connection with the Catholic Library Association, they'll receive credit for their activities and a certificate at the end of the year Charity is the key word for the Charity is the key word for the Future Nurses program. 'Besides Future Nurses program. "Besid the club's caring for an elderly the club's caring for an elderly couple, each member is compiling a book of nursing information," explains Lorraine Wesolowski 217, president.
A program of instruction on cadet teaching is being introduced to senior F.T.A. members. Classes in it will be held after school and then they will be required to do cadet teaching in the grade school.
The Sodality plans to put rosaries and medals on sale for the students during October, the month of the Holy Rosary.
"I'm looking for the same cooperation on the Christmas card drive as we had on the second hand book sale," says Ken Kulinski 216, C.S.M.C. president. Sue Fante 316, treasurer, expresses enthusiasm for the future program of the Music Club. The members are divided into groups of five to carry out club services.

Special Shows 'Tops' on Television Roster

After taking a serious beating from critics last season, the television industry has come back fighting with its best punches yet.
Producers and network heads can now boast a roster of shows that is evenly balanced between educational, informative presentations and those that are purely entertainment.
The spotlight this season shines brightly on the new big show - the one into which has gone a special effort to make it markedly different from regular day-in, day-out viewing.
A great many of the special shows will be 90 -minute dramas. Top rated performers like Alec Guinness, Laurence Olivier, and Guinness, Laurence Olivier, and Ingrid Bergman will star in special programs based on the works of such noted writers as Hemingway, Shakespeare, and Archibald MacLeish.
Four Hemingway adaptations are planned for the season, the first of which is his short story, The Killers.
Laurence Olivier will star in Somerset Maugham's Moon and Sixpence. The cast of the special telecast of Henrik Ibsen's A Doll's House will be headed by Julie Harris.
A. J. Cronin's The Citadel is scheduled for production in the spring of next year.
"Egghead" programs return in full force. New on the screen are such shows as High Road, Our American Heritage, Conquest, The 20th Century, and CBS Reports. Cultural programs to be presented are NBC Opera and Young People's Concerts with conductor Leonard Bernstein directing.
On the lighter side, the situation comedy is making a comeback with such offers as the former radio favorites Fibber McGee and Molly, Hennessey, with former childstar Jackie Cooper as a

Some of the fathers insist that impressions of their students as of now may be a bit premature, and would rather not commit themselves by revealing them. But Fr. Raymond Bauer, instructor of 315 and 115, ventures, "The caliber of student here is better than I have met before." Fr. Mark Beischel, of 314 and 112 , believes SAH students to be capable of doing more than many other high schoolers.
"This is because the faculty here admits only capable students to begin with," offers Fr. William Griglak of 314 and 117.
On the darker side, Fr. Arthur LeClair of 217 and 119 has found that some pupils lack politeness when they neglect to greet a father in the halls.
Among his pastoral duties, which include instructing juniors in 214, Fr. Leo Matusicky conducts the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes held for converts in the parish.
Fr. William Beuth, of 219, has observed that "There's never a dull moment in pastoral work," and Fr. Paul Bobay has decided, "Contact with the people is one of the most satisfying phases of parish work." Each of the priests has a definite objective in teaching his students. Fr. LeClair hopes to form Christ in each of them.
Fr. Danielak, C.S.M.C. director and instructor of 216 and 122, wishes to impress upon his classes the fact that their religion is not merely book-knowledge, but an integral part of their lives. "I want them to be well-educated Catholic people ready to take part in the 20th century," he says.

Teutons Trounce 3; Oppose St. Paul Next

SAH's Teutons, undefeated and untied in three starts, will seek their fourth victory tomorrow night when they meet St. Paul's Lakers at Mack Park.
The Lakers, along with St. Florian's, St. Lad's, and St. Stan's, the three teams that bowed to St. Anthony's, are winless in league play this season.
The Teuton eleven share first place in the Class A Eastside race with St. Ambrose, St. Catherine's, and Servite, all undefeated.
St. Tony's beat St. Florian's in their first game of the season, September 20, 27-6. The victory was highlighted by a 64 yard pass and run from Dennis Anderson to Ed Jagoda. The Teuton's touchdowns were made by Fred Kortykowski, who scored twice, Leon Noel, and Dennis LeVans. The following week the boys trounced St. Lad's 31-7. This game featured a good offense and a solid defense. Touchdowns were scored by Leon Noel, two touchdowns, Fred Korytkowski, Dennis Anderson, and Ed Jagoda.

Against St. Stan's the Teutons played a poor first half but came back with a strong second half and dominated play completely. Both teams were hit hard with penalties. St. Tony's emerged victorious 26-7 Fred Korytkowski, Vince Sorgi, Dennis Anderson, and Leon Noel crossed the goal line. The lone St. Stan's score came on a punt return when the ball was supposedly downed.

Cheerers Back Teuton Teams

A high-school team fighting with the Teutons rather than against them is the squad of junior and senior cheerleaders.
Their summer program of long practices resulted in the originality and accuracy they display this season. Senior captains attended a convention which helped them develop new ideas for promoting school spirit.
Learning from the experienced senior girls, the junior squad is scheduled to cheer for two varsity football games this season and all the junior games. carrier at St. Florian fame, Keyworth Stadium. athletic director.

Fr. Schrader Takes Over as Athletic Director

Getting SAH "on the ball," Father James Schrader is the new parish
Father was transferred to St. Anthony parish from Sacred Heart in Sedalia, Mo., where Father John Hanssen, formerly of St. Anthony, is now stationed.
Besides having charge of sports, Father Schrader is moderator of the parish sodality and the A.D.F.
At present the gym floor is his main project. Since he has just arrived, however, it will take him time to look over the condition of things before he has a chance to make any further improvements.
Being athletic director is not the "easy" job so many people think it is. As Father Schrader commented, "Realizing that this job of mine is no popularity contest, I shall insist upon law and order. Everyone may love fun but there must be order so that 'everyone' will have fun - not just a few."
Father Russell Friedrichsen, former athletic director, has been transferred to Sacred Heart College, Wichita, Kansas.

Pep Club  Re-organizes

'Pears to Me

By SAM SPORTSMAN
AS WE OPEN this column for another year, St. Anthony has met and defeated St. Florian 27-6, St. Lad's 31-7, and St. Stan's 26-7.
However, as always, a team must guard against over-confidence. Three victories under one's belt does not mean the rest will be easy.
Such is true especially in the case of the Teutons. The fact that they have tromped the league's three weaker teams is no test of their strength.
THE REAL CONTEST will come in the last three games when the Teutons are pitted against the mighty St. Kate, Servite and St. Ambrose elevens.
With a few good breaks and, more important, with tough and consistent play in every game, the Eastside championship may become a reality.
Without this hard play, Teuton glory will be just a pipe dream.
"Don't be shy, join the Pep Club" and "I'm a member of the Pep Club - Rah" are two of the unusual captions under the Pep Club posters throughout the school.

A fairly new club at SAH , its purpose is promoting school spirit and assisting the cheerleaders.

Making the homecoming one of their main projects at present, pep members are trying to materialize a flashcard section. It will consists of approximately 150 girls spelling out cheers with maroon and white cards.
"I wish I could make the girls realize the importance of having a pep club and that it is not necessary to attend every game," expressed President Sharon Bracci 314.
Carol MacLean 120 added, "It seems we are not getting the backing of enough freshmen either.

4-Way Tie on Top in East Side Race

The Catholic high school football league's first division race is well under way, with several teams contenting for the right to play in the Soup Bowl Game, November 15.

Players View Team Positions

"What is the most important position on the football team?" This question couldn't be more fairly answered than by the players themselves.
"Tackle is not only the most important; it's the roughest" Dwight Sobezak, tackle.
"There isn't one valuable position but it takes 11 good men and 11 good positions to make a team" Ken Domanski, quarterback.
"One of these days I'm going to get hit and not get up; that's when I'll wish I had the easy job of a lineman" . . . Leon Noel, halfback.
"No one person is more important. It takes 11 men to make up a team" . . . Dennis Abood, halfback.
"Each position is important in its own way. Each play depends on all positions" . . . Ralph Olechowski, end.
"Every position counts on a football team" . . . Don Missant, tackle.
"If the line is good and the backs are good we have a great team. Every position is just as important Larry Henningsen, fullback.

"If the line is great the back-field will be even greater" . . . Mike Eden, guard.
"They all have to work together; no position is more important" . Ralph Koch, center.
"It takes cooperation from all 11 players to make a good team" Arnold Stefani, end.

Penalties 'Part of Game'

The opening of the athletic season at SAH brings the wild cheers of enthusiastic spectators. The typical footbal game can prove involving, however, for the not-so-learned fan. For instance: Under what circumstances can a team be penalized?

Raffle Aids
Sports Fund

At the "Old Timers Party" last
Saturday, six sets of seasons passes to the lion's football games were raffled.

With a $$ 3000$ quota, SAHer's were encouraged to sell as many tickets as possible and proceeds went to the athletic fund.

Marlene Rehdorf and Richard
Mielcarek won school jackets for selling more tickets than any other girl or boy in the school.

A team can lose 15 yards for tackling a player who has made a fair catch; any unnecessary roughness or unsportsmanlike action; for coaching from the sidelines; and unlawful assistance to a man carrying the ball.

Loss of 25 yards is called for being unready to play at the second half.

Being penalized by a loss of half the distance to the goal pertains to a player illegally returning to the game; striking, kneeing, or kicking an opponent; or for a foul by the defense within one yard of its goal line.

Each incomplete forward pass or a forward pass going out of bounds on the fly results in the loss of a down.
